

Looking for ways to get your school more active? Whilst also covering elements of the citizenship curriculum!?

In partnership with Sport England we aim to work with children right across the country; promoting a simple and inclusive way for everyone to get active, get aware of course have fun!!

BOUNCE is specifically designed for schools, it works as a combination of classroom activities and 'awareness games' to not only help teachers cover the citizenship curriculum but also show your pupils what its like to live with a disability.

"If children learn about disability- hopefully it will allow the children that attend our school to be more involved with their peers and be less excluded from the fun!!"

Hallmoor School. (Birmingham)

These resources are key stage specific including everything you'll need to make a real feature and success of this initiative in your school. Including pictures, posters, games, activities, research statistics and real life stories, and topics for debate we can even arrange for a representative of the charity to come along and help!

At the end of the learning you have the opportunity to do a 'BOUNCE', with children being sponsored by friends and family. The money raised by your pupils will be dedicated to a child within the local area- so your school will be directly helping its own community!

"We can't remember when we last had this much fun raising money for charity"

Susie Bancroft Nursery Manager Horne End Nursery

'BOUNCE' is a fantastic opportunity for your school to teach citizenship in a dynamic and interesting way; whilst also being involved in an initiative that not only promotes health and fitness, but also inclusion and awareness of disability amongst children.
